

Fight Attempt To Open Store in Restricted Area

Robert Van Gaasbeck Who Would Make Blacksmith Shop Into Grocery, Is Opposed in Plans

Residential Area

Mrs. Sylvia Bibby and Others Oppose Plan as Detrimental to Homes in Section

Robert Van Gaasbeck wants to transform the former Dunlap blacksmith shop at 121 Wall street into a grocery store, and Mrs. Sylvia Bibby, who recently purchased the former Judge Joseph M. Fowler property nearby, is objecting on the ground that the former blacksmith shop is in the residential zone, under the provisions of the city's zoning law.

Mr. Van Gaasbeck through his attorney, Roscoe V. Elsworth, has filed with the common council a petition asking that the property be placed in the business district. Thursday evening the laws and rules committee of the council held a public hearing on the petition which was opposed by Attorney William H. Grogan, who represented Mrs. Bibby. Alderman James E. Connelly, chairman of the committee, presided at the hearing, and after giving both sides ample opportunity of being heard closed the hearing and informed petitioner and opponent that the committee would later submit a report to the council for action.

Had a Store

Attorney Elsworth in urging that the petition be granted said that at the time the former Fowler property was purchased by Mrs. Bibby that the adjoining property was used as a store by Mr. Van Gaasbeck, and that the building was purchased by Mrs. Bibby also and Van Gaasbeck vacated the property.

Mr. Van Gaasbeck then purchased the former Dunlap blacksmith shop for $1,000 and planned to remodel the shop into a grocery store. This property, said Mr. Elsworth, could not be used for any other purpose. He said that for the sake of argument he would call attention to a provision in the zoning law that required 60 per cent of the area on which a building was to be erected was to be used for the building, but owing to the smallness of the lot on which the blacksmith shop stood this would be impossible.

Attorney Elsworth said that he should not reason why the petition should not be granted and Mr. Van Gaasbeck allowed to go ahead with his plans to open a grocery store.

Filed with the petition, he said, was a petition signed by some 50 property owners in the vicinity who had no objection to the store.

Another Petition

Attorney William H. Grogan appeared for Mrs. Bibby and also Mrs. Marcia Griswold, and opposed the granting of the Van Gaasbeck petition. Mr. Grogan filed with the committee an opposing petition signed by 16 property owners in the locality, and also the withdrawals of 12 names that had been signed to the Van Gaasbeck petition.

Why She Bought

Attorney Grogan said that when Mrs. Bibby decided to purchase the Fowler property, the city records had been inspected and it was found that the property was located within the residential district. The Bibbys found the Van Gaasbeck store adjoining the Fowler home, and that the store was leased by Mr. Van Gaasbeck.

Van Gaasbeck Paid

The Bibbys made arrangements with the owner of the store property to purchase it, and paid Mr. Van Gaasbeck the sum of $1,400 to give him up his store lease and also to give him the store fixtures.

'More Than Fair'

Attorney Grogan said that the Bibbys by paying Van Gaasbeck this sum of money and also giving him all of the store fixtures were more than fair to Van Gaasbeck.

'Van Gaasbeck Went Ahead'

After the Bibbys had purchased both the Fowler house and the adjoining store property, said Mr. Grogan, they proceeded to take improvements could be made to the Fowler property.

While the Bibbys were going ahead with their plans to improve the property, they had bought Van Gaasbeck's store and had bought the old blacksmith shop and proceeded to change it into a grocery store without first applying to the common council or to the zoning board, said Mr. Grogan.

When it came to the notice of Mrs. Bibby, said Mr. Grogan, naturally she was excited as she wanted the vicinity kept within the provisions of the residential

Japanese Officials In Suchow Today, Trap 35,000 Chinese

Major Sino Forces Retreating Toward Siayi and Other Points—Capture of City Important

Shanghai, May 20 (AP)—High commanders of the Japanese army made a triumphal entry into fallen Suchow today as their victorious army mopped up Chinese forces around the strategic city.

The vital rail junction was completely occupied, the Japanese announced, and their army was closing in on 35,000 Chinese troops said to be trapped in the Suchow vicinity.

They said there was every indication the Chinese would be annihilated. Seven thousand Chinese already had been killed in the Suchow area, the Japanese estimated.

They said the major Chinese forces were retreating toward Siayi, 15 miles to the south, Chupian, 16 miles to the southwest, and Sutsien, 70 miles to the southeast.

Important Victory

Although in number of casualties the battle for Suchow did not make this one of the major engagements of the war, the capture of the city was strategically more important to the Japanese than their occupation of Nanking, once China's capital.

The fall of Suchow was the climax of a five-month campaign which started immediately after Nanking was captured and cost both sides many thousands of men. In the drive the Japanese suffered their first major defeat in modern times at Taiherchwang, April 6.

General Shunroku Hata, commander of Japanese forces in Central China, described the capture of Suchow as "only a jump in the hop, skip and jump into Hankow."

Chinese Surrender

The Japanese said 2,000 Chinese surrendered at Subhsien, 1,000 at Kuechen and thousands of others were retreating toward Lingpi, northeast of these towns.

While checkerboard fighting went on all along the East-West Lungai railway, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's crack central government troops, which withdrew from Suchow before the Japanese attack, were reported preparing to make a second desperate defense stand 30 miles west of the captured city.

A few miles farther west, the Japanese asserted they had severed the Lungai on both sides of Tangshan, trapping four divisions of Chinese who took part in the Chinese victory at Taiherchwang.

Japanese asserted they shot down ten Chinese planes of Russian manufacture in a dogfight over Langfeng. The Chinese said they had shot down five Japanese planes attempting to bomb Langfeng.

Ammunition Overboard

San Francisco, May 20 (AP)—Several hundred cases of U. S. army ammunition, lost overboard when a barge suddenly listed, menaced shipping in northern San Francisco Bay today.

Railroad Unions May Strike

Washington, May 20 (AP)—Railroad labor unions added a threat of a nationwide strike to efforts of administration senators to prevent rail lines from putting a 15 per cent wage cut into effect July 1.

The Railway Labor Executives Association, charging in a statement that the roads had "double-crossed" their employees, asserted a strike would be the "only ultimatum result" if the railroads pressed their $250,000,000 wage reduction program.

Senate opposition to the cut crystallized in withdrawal yesterday of a committee-approved bill to make more liberal RFC loans available to the carriers.

The Senate returned the measure to its banking committee at the request of Chairman Wagner (D-N. Y.), who said there had been "no discussion" of the wage cut proposal at the time the bill had been considered.

Wagner told reporters that several committee members wanted to include a no-wage-cut stipulation in the legislation. Both labor and management will be called to discuss the issue, he said.

No Reconciliation For Wounded Duelist

Paris, May 20 (AP)—Edouard Bourdet, Director of La Comedie Francaise, was wounded in the right arm today by Henry Bernstein, veteran playwright and duelist, in an "affair of honor" that failed to settle their quarrel.

The principals left the dueling field without reconciliation.

The attending physician said the wound was not serious.

The duel with dull-edged but needle-pointed epees, took place on an estate at suburban Neuilly and consisted of two two-minute periods of fighting for which Bernstein, adjudged the injured party, chose the weapons.

It was Bourdet's first duel, Bernstein's ninth.

He Also Served, but Not at Right Time, So All Is for Naught

New York, May 20 (AP)—Listen to the story of the juror who didn't choose to stand and wait, and the other juror who was called but was not chosen.

Their names are Martin J. Kross, 55, and Joseph Kross, 35. Kross was one of six men—the number for a municipal court jury—selected to hear a case concerning the fate of some lost packing cases.

The six names were called out next day while Kross was in the washroom. He didn't hear the summons but Juhasz heard the name of Martin Jordan, another juror and, used to mispronunciation, thought it was his own.

So he walked out of the door with the chosen five.

The court officer counted noses, found there were six and thought all was well, so Juhasz went into the jury and did his duty.

The mistake was discovered when Juhasz's name actually was called and he didn't answer. He turned up to collect his pay and Court Officer John Kehoe, who

Kingston Business Men Discussed Parades, "Charity"

Police Chief Gives Line of Coming Parades—Study Solicitations Made by "Charity" Groups

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood spoke this morning before the Kingston Business Men's Association at a special meeting called for the purpose of discussing the decoration of business properties for the Boy Scout Camporee parade on June 4 and also for the 125th Grand Conclave of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar, which will be held later in June with a big parade in which several thousand Sir Knights will participate.

At the last regular meeting of the association the question of having the parades pass through the business sections was discussed and Chief Wood attended the meeting this morning to discuss the matter. The Boy Scout parade will pass through Wall street business zone, but Chief Wood stated the Knights Templar parade will not. This parade, perhaps the largest ever to be seen in Kingston at any convention, will have a line of march between East Chester street and Academy Park.

The question of decorations was discussed and President James Rowe presented figures from a manufacturer on banners which may be purchased by the storekeeper and used for decorating purposes. It was suggested that since Kingston is becoming known as the "Convention City," that conventions will be held more frequently and there will be more use for decorations.

However, the matter of decoration was left to the individual merchant and no attempt will be made to decorate as an association movement. All stores are expected to decorate according to their own desire.

Plans for summer promotions were discussed and preliminary work done toward the usual summer events. At the next regular meeting of the association the details will be further discussed.

Discussions Solicitations

Recent solicitations by alleged "charity" groups among merchants came up again for discussion and the question of tickets, program advertising and other charity donations were discussed at length. Several of the merchants told of spending large sums annually for these causes, many of which were not even locally sponsored. In order to arrive at some decision as to what to do in the future to prevent this "racket" by unauthorized persons and also to reduce the annual cost of hundreds of small donations to all sort of causes, President Rowe motioned of Sam Bernstein appointed a committee of four to discuss plans. A report will be made at a future meeting.

Two plans were advanced. One was to have a secret committee appointed by the President to pass upon donations from the association as a whole instead of each individual merchant being called upon many times a week to contribute to some "cause."

A second plan was to make up an association "community chest" from which donations and tickets could be purchased for worthy causes. Both plans will be investigated and a report made later.

Should a closed committee be appointed, that committee whose

Permanent Vacation For Furnace Stokers

Pittsburgh, May 20 (AP)—For jaded furnace stokers, science offers today a permanent vacation.

Details of a coal burning heating plant that operates for a year without stoking, damper settings or ash removing were disclosed by the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research.

E. T. Selig, Jr., industrial fellow at the institute, said: "Carefree heating is obtained by using Pennsylvania Anthracite coal, usually of buckwheat or rice size, which is conveyed from coal bin to the fire through a small conveyor tube."

"After the anthracite is burned, the ash falls by gravity over the edge of the burner into a dust-tight storage pit beneath the floor."

County Legion Dinner Monday Night at Wallkill

The annual dinner of the Ulster County American Legion to the state commander will take place on Monday night, May 23, at Wallkill. At that time State Commander J. M. Cross will be the guest of the Ulster County Legion posts. Also at that time the American Legion Auxiliary county organization will have as guests State President Mrs. W. Harvey Stegman; Mrs. Edwin W. Ashby, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Herbert Hafly, vice president, and Mrs. Horace W. French, third district chairman. The dinner will be held in the Community Hall and will take place at 7 o'clock. Following the dinner those attending will go to the high school where a joint meeting of the Legion and the Auxiliary will be held. Following the business meeting there will be dancing.

Les Barth of the local Legion post still has some tickets left for those who wish to go to the dinner, the cost being nominal. Reservations are to be made to him not later than Saturday.

The annual get-together of the Legionnaires of the county with the state commander is one of the outstanding events of the year and it is expected there will be a large representation on hand to greet Commander Cross. The Auxiliary is planning on a large turnout to welcome the state officers and messages of interest to all members will be given by the distinguished guests of both organizations.

Too Much Taxation

Garden City, L. I., May 20 (AP)—State Tax Commissioner Mark Graves believes increased unemployment is due to "excessive taxation of capital." Graves told the Nassau County Bankers' Association last night that the belief that "heavy taxes are paid only by corporations and the wealthy is a fallacy."

"Persons on relief," he said, "would be astounded if they realized the total amount of taxes concealed in the price of everything they purchase."

Plan for Closed Shop in Construction Work Here Ends in General Walk-out

Italo-French Pact Will Depend Upon Il Duce's Attitude

France, Relying on England's Friendship, Leaves Future Plans to Italy

Paris, May 20 (AP)—France, relying on her close alliance with Britain, has put the question of a friendship pact with Italy squarely up to Premier Mussolini.

Political informants made it clear today that negotiations, deadlocked since May 11, will have to be reopened by Italy.

France seemed to have found the formula she hoped would checkmate Italian efforts to use the Spanish Civil war as an excuse to break Britain's alliance with either Britain or Russia.

French acceptance of a British plan for ending intervention in the Spanish war assured her of Britain's support. Should Mussolini refuse to negotiate a friendship agreement with France on that basis, Britain could not hold France responsible.

The result might be collapse of the recent Anglo-Italian pact, which is based on the same eventual withdrawal of Italian troops with insurgents in Spain.

At the same time, France apparently has saved herself from offending Russia, as the British plan calls for equal withdrawal of volunteers from both sides.

England Pushes Action

Britain, in the role of mediator, is endeavoring to re-start the negotiations between her two allies, and is expected to call a meeting of the non-intervention committee next week.

Germany's ambitions in central Europe are reported to be underlying reasons for a break in the friendship talks.

Informed political commentators said the Nazis were using their southern partner in the Rome-Berlin axis to keep France so involved in the Mediterranean she would be unable to block German plans in Czechoslovakia, where reside 3,500,000 Germans whom Germany contemplates being under Nazi protection.

Among the welter of reports was one extraordinary rumor—heard in several quarters—that Germany actually was aiding the Barcelona government in an undercover effort to prolong the civil war.

One was that large detachments of German troops had been ordered to the Rhineland frontier. One morning paper which published this dispatch in the first edition withdrew the story from the next.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $5,276,217,647.51; expenditures, $5,746,084,476.33, including $1,862,723,562.72 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $1,369,866,828.82; gross debt, $37,424,322,647.02, a decrease of $44,038,405.78 below the previous day; gold assets, $12,891,546,568.90.

San Luis Potosi, Mexico, May 20 (AP)—Ex-Army General Saturnino Cedillo spread his peasant army into the hills today to prepare for guerrilla warfare with the army of President Lázaro Cardenas.

He would not start it but he was ready with arms to repel all aggression," said Cedillo, 45-year-old Mexican Indian, a rightist political opponent of Cardenas' and for 20 years the dominant power of San Luis.

Cedillo was plotting rebellion, charged Cardenas, 42-year-old radical leader of the nation's program of socialization of "Mexico for Mexicans" which was exemplified on March 18 by government expropriation of foreign-owned oil properties.

Their dispute was that between the Right and the Left, and many feared that if fighting began it might spread through the nation and make of Mexico another Spain.

The Cedillos fixed their number at 18,000 to 20,000. Cardenas, invading San Luis in person to establish calm, had 10,000 troops in the state. Two regiments of cavalry were on the way from Chihuahua, ten observation-combat planes landed here yesterday, and probably 20,000 troops could be brought quickly from nearby states.

Cedillo said he had "trustworthy" information the president was preparing to "try to crush me by force of arms" today, that attack might come today, that he kept to his vast Las Palomas estate near here with less than a dozen men last night, but his peasant force had taken to the hills and Cedillo was ready to follow.

Butterly, the leader of Mexico's last important private army, whose fealty he held by land at loimonts on his estate, denied he plotted rebellion.

He saw himself as the victim of efforts by his enemies to destroy him, carried on since his resignation as secretary of agriculture in a tilt with Cardenas last August.

Striking out at the president, Cedillo said in an interview with the Associated Press that the Mexican people was "tired of the infamous dictatorship with Communist trimmings, with its putting an end to all sources of wealth and submerging the country in ruin and misery."

WPA Broadens List Of Eligibles For Work

All Works Progress Administration area directors in upstate New York have been notified by State Administrator Lester W. Herzog that they are authorized to requisition from welfare rolls all eligibles for WPA employment for whom projects are available who could be certified for transfer as of May 14.

This new order broadens the scope of relief employment by WPA, removing former restrictions and making immediately available for work all the employables listed on local welfare rolls as certified cases as of May 14.

Connecticut High Officials Facing Charges to Defraud

Lieutenant Governor Frank Hayes and 26 Others Accused in Theft of Million Dollars

Waterbury, Conn., May 20 (AP)—A general bench warrant for the arrest of Frank Hayes, Lieutenant Governor of Connecticut and Mayor of Waterbury, and 26 others, charging "rampant corruption" in the city's administration, was in the hands of a special prosecutor today.

County Executive Edward J. Hickey was instructed to round up the 27 men.

The warrant, charging a "conspiracy" to defraud the city of money "in excess of a million dollars," was issued last night after a special grand jury had charged Waterbury had been "under the domination of a small but powerful, ruthless and corrupt group of men who managed the affairs of the city for personal and political advancement."

The report also disclosed the grand jury had been investigating lobbying activities at Hartford, the state capital, asserting "that political influence has been for sale by the secret lobbyists during sessions of the General Assembly and has frequently been purchased has been vividly demonstrated to this grand jury."

Others Named

Besides Hayes, who has been mayor since 1930, the warrant named his executive secretary, Thomas P. Kelly, and former City Comptroller Daniel J. Leary. Among the other defendants are several of the state's most prominent political figures, including Harry E. Mackenzie and Charles E. Williamson, Fairfield county Republicans. Hayes is a Democrat.

Superior Court Judge Ernest A. Ingalls, who issued the bench warrant, ordered Hayes, Kelly, Leary and four others held in bonds of $25,000 each.

Bail for the 19 other defendants ranged downward to $5,000. The defeat of Leary, also a Democrat, by 33 votes through a coalition of Republicans and insurgent Democrats last December, led to the grand jury investigation. It was precipitated by Sherwood L. Rowland, the new comptroller, who charged he had found evidences of financial irregularities in the administration of his predecessor.

Fitchburg, Mass., May 20 (AP)—The parents of two boys remained adamant today in their refusal to carry out a court order to whip their sons for stealing railroad wire. The 82-year-old jurist, who has ordered similar punishment in the past, continued the case on Wednesday after suggesting the horsewhipping.

The car in which they were riding, driven by a third man, crashed into an electric light pole on the Henry Hudson Parkway.

Carpenters on New Myron J. Michael School Leave Work in Attempt to Force Closed Shop

No Strike Called

Union Delegate Gerhard Declares Action Taken Because of Non-Union Men

Union carpenters in the city knocked off work on Thursday on orders from the local carpenters' union. "There is no strike," said Harry G. Gerhard, delegate of the local union, today, "and no strike has been called. All that has happened is that the Building Trades Alliance is organizing a campaign to make all jobs union. He said that the carpenters had been called off the jobs because non-union men were employed on the same jobs."

There are four contracting concerns in the city who have been employing union carpenters. They are Hellenberg, Swart, Joyce and Lyman. D. Schoonmaker. The wage scale has been $14 a day.

Mr. Gerhard when questioned about the wage scales said that wages had nothing to do with orders for the union carpenters to knock off work. They had been called off the jobs, he said, because non-union men were also employed.

One of the local contractors when seen today said he believed it was an attempt on the part of the Trades Alliance to force contractors to employ only union men on all construction jobs. These would include laborers, electrical workers, carpenters, masons and plumbers. He said that in 1928 and 1929 an attempt was made to have a closed shop in Kingston, but that the attempt had met with failure.

Predicts No Labor Trouble

Mr. Gerhard said that as soon as contractors would sign an agreement to employ only union workers on construction jobs there would be no labor trouble.

Construction work is rather slack at the present time in the city, and one contractor claimed that his jobs were not held up as he was proceeding with the jobs by employing other men.

Others who claim to be in a position to know state that there are so many non-union workers in the city that the effort to unionize the trades again will meet failure.

It is stated that carpenters working on the new Myron J. Michael School here; the school under construction in Highland, and the water works jobs of New York city in southern Ulster are being paid at the rate of $9 a day.

Mr. Gerhard was asked about that and said that the wage scale had nothing to do with the orders that had been given to knock off work. He said that wage scales varied. "It is simply an organizing campaign to make all jobs union jobs in the city."

Robert Van Gaasbeck Who Would Make Blacksmith Shop Into Grocery, Is Opposed in Plans

Residential Area

Mrs. Sylvia Bibby and Others Oppose Plan as Detrimental to Homes in Section

Robert Van Gaasbeck wants to transform the former Dunlap blacksmith shop at 121 Wall street into a grocery store, and Mrs. Sylvia Bibby, who recently purchased the former Judge Joseph M. Fowler property nearby, is objecting on the ground that the former blacksmith shop is in the residential zone, under the provisions of the city's zoning law.

Mr. Van Gaasbeck through his attorney, Roscoe V. Elsworth, has filed with the common council a petition asking that the property be placed in the business district. Thursday evening the laws and rules committee of the council held a public hearing on the petition which was opposed by Attorney William H. Grogan, who represented Mrs. Bibby. Alderman James E. Connelly, chairman of the committee, presided at the hearing, and after giving both sides ample opportunity of being heard closed the hearing and informed petitioner and opponent that the committee would later submit a report to the council for action.

Had a Store

Attorney Elsworth in urging that the petition be granted said that at the time the former Fowler property was purchased by Mrs. Bibby that the adjoining property was used as a store by Mr. Van Gaasbeck, and that the building was purchased by Mrs. Bibby also and Van Gaasbeck vacated the property.

Mr. Van Gaasbeck then purchased the former Dunlap blacksmith shop for $1,000 and planned to remodel the shop into a grocery store. This property, said Mr. Elsworth, could not be used for any other purpose. He said that for the sake of argument he would call attention to a provision in the zoning law that required 50 per cent of the area on which a building was to be erected was to be used for the building, but owing to the smallness of the lot on which the blacksmith shop stood this would be impossible.

Attorney Elsworth said that he saw no reason why the petition should not be granted and Mr. Van Gaasbeck allowed to go ahead with his plans to open a grocery store.

Filed with the petition, he said, was a petition signed by some 50 property owners in the vicinity who had no objection to the store.

Another Petition

Attorney William H. Grogan appeared for Mrs. Bibby and also Mrs. Marcia Griswold, and opposed the granting of the Van Gaasbeck petition. Mr. Grogan filed with the committee an opposing petition signed by 16 property owners in the locality, and also the withdrawal of 12 names that had been signed to the Van Gaasbeck petition.

Why She Bought

Attorney Grogan said that when Mrs. Bibby decided to purchase the Fowler property the city records had been inspected and it was found that the property was located within the residential district. The Bibbys found the Van Gaasbeck store adjoining the Fowler home, and that the store was leased by Mr. Van Gaasbeck.

Van Gaasbeck Paid

The Bibbys made arrangements with the owner of the store property to purchase it, and paid Mr. Van Gaasbeck the sum of $1,400 to give up his store lease and also save him all the store fixtures.

More Than Fair

Attorney Grogan said that the Bibbys by paying Van Gaasbeck this sum of money and also giving him all of the store fixtures were more than fair to Van Gaasbeck.

Van Gaasbeck Went Ahead

After the Bibbys had purchased both the Fowler house and the adjoining store property, said Mr. Grogan, they proceeded to take down the store building so that improvements could be made to the Fowler property.

While the Bibbys were going ahead with their plans to improve the properties they had bought Van Gaasbeck went ahead and bought the old blacksmith shop and proceeded to change it into a grocery store without first applying to the common council or to the zoning board, said Mr. Grogan.

When it came to the notice of Mrs. Bibby, said Mr. Grogan, naturally she was excited as she wanted the vicinity kept within the provisions of the residential

General Shunroku Hata, commander of Japanese forces in Central China, described the capture of Suchow as "only a hop" in the "hop, skip and jump into Hankow."

Chinese Surrender

The Japanese said 2,000 Chinese surrendered at Subhsun, 1,000 at Kuchan and thousands of others were retreating toward Lingpi, northeast of these towns.

While checkerboard fighting went on all along the East-West Lunghai railway, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's crack central government troops, which withdrew from Suchow before the Japanese attack, were reported preparing to make a second desperate defense stand 30 miles west of the captured city.

A few miles farther west, the Japanese asserted they had severed the Lunghai on both sides of Tangshan, trapping four divisions of Chinese who took part in the Chinese victory at Taiherchwang.

Japanese asserted they shot down ten Chinese planes of Russian manufacture in a dogfight over Langfang. The Chinese said they had shot down five Japanese planes attempting to bomb Langfang.

San Francisco, May 20 (AP)—Several hundred cases of U. S. army ammunition, lost overboard when a barge suddenly listed, menaced shipping in northern San Francisco Bay today.

Railroad Unions May Strike

Washington, May 20 (AP)—Railroad labor unions added a threat of a nationwide strike today to efforts of administration senators to prevent rail lines from putting a 15 per cent wage cut into effect July 1.

The Railway Labor Executives Association, charging in a statement that the roads had "double-crossed" their employees, asserted a strike would be the "only ultimate result" if the railroads pressed their $250,000,000 wage reduction program.

Senate opposition to the cut crystallized in withdrawal yesterday of a committee-approved bill to make more liberal RFC loans available to the carriers.

The Senate returned the measure to its banking committee at the request of Chairman Wagner (D-N. Y.), who said there had been "no discussion" of the wage cut proposal at the time the bill had been considered.

Wagner told reporters that several committee members wanted to include a no-wage-cut stipulation in the legislation. Both labor and management will be called to discuss the issue, he said.

He said the committee would

No Reconciliation For Wounded Duelist

Paris, May 20 (AP)—Edouard Bourdet, Director of La Comedie Francaise, was wounded in the right arm today by Henry Bernstein, veteran playwright and duelist, in an "affair of honor" that failed to settle their quarrel.

The principals left the dueling field without reconciliation.

The attending physician said the wound was not serious.

The duel, with dull-edged but needle-pointed epees, took place on an estate at suburban Neuilly and consisted of two two-minute periods of fighting for which Bernstein, adjudged the injured party, chose the weapons.

It was Bourdet's first duel, Bernstein's ninth.

He also served, but

Not at Right Time, So All Is for Naught

New York, May 20 (AP)—Listen to the story of the juror who didn't choose to stand and wait, and the other juror who was called but was not chosen.

Their names are Martin Juhacz, 55, and Joseph Kross, 35.

Kross was one of six men chosen to hear a case concerning the fate of some lost packing cases.

The six names were called out next day while Kross was in the washroom. He didn't hear the summons but Juhacz heard the name of Martin Jordan, another juror and, used to mispronunciations, thought it was his own.

So he walked out of the door with the chosen five.

The court officer counted noses, found there were six and thought all was well, so Juhacz went into the jury and did his duty.

The mistake was discovered when Juhacz's name actually was called and he didn't answer. He turned up to collect his pay and Court Officer John Kehoe, who

Kingston Business Men Discussed Parades, "Charity"

Police Chief Gives Line of Coming Parades—Study Solicitations Made by "Charity" Groups

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood spoke this morning before the Kingston Business Men's Association at a special meeting called for the purpose of discussing the decoration of business properties for the Boy Scout Camporee parade on June 4 and also for the 125th Grand Conclave of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar, which will be held later in June with a big parade in which several thousand Sir Knights will participate.

At the last regular meeting of the association the question of having the parades pass through the business sections was discussed and Chief Wood attended the meeting this morning to discuss the matter. The Boy Scout parade will pass through Wall street business zone, but Chief Wood stated the Knights Templar parade will not. This parade, perhaps the largest ever to be seen in Kingston at any convention, will have a line of march between East Chester street and Academy Park.

The question of decorations was discussed and President James Rowe presented figures from a manufacturer on banners which may be purchased by the storekeeper and used for decorating purposes. It was suggested that Kingston is becoming known as the "Convention City," that conventions will be held more frequently and there will be more requests for decorations.

However, the matter of decorating was left to the individual merchant and no attempt will be made to decorate as an association movement. All stores are expected to decorate according to their own desire.

Plans for summer promotions were discussed and preliminary work done toward the usual summer events. At the next regular meeting of the association the details will be further discussed.

Recent solicitations by alleged "charity" groups among merchants came up again for discussion and the question of tickets, program advertising and other charity donations were discussed at length. Several of the merchants told of spending large sums annually for these causes, many of which were not even locally sponsored. In order to arrive at some decision as to what to do in the future to prevent this "racket" by unauthorized persons and also to reduce the annual cost of hundreds of small donations to all sorts of causes, President Rowe on motion of Sam Bernstein appointed a committee of four to discuss plans. A report will be made at a future meeting.

Two plans were advanced. One was to have a secret committee appointed by the President to pass upon donations from the association as a whole instead of each individual merchant being called upon many times a week to contribute to some "cause." A second plan was to make up an association "community chest" from which donations and tickets could be purchased for worthy causes. Both plans will be investigated and a report made later.

Should a closed committee be appointed, that committee whose

Permanent Vacation For Furnace Stokers

Pittsburgh, May 20 (AP)—For jaded furnace stokers, science offers today a permanent vacation.

Details of a coal burning heating plant that operates for a year without stoking, dumper settings or ash removing were disclosed by the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research.

T. Selig, Jr., industrial fellow at the institute, said: "Carefree heating is obtainable by using Pennsylvania Anthracite coal, usually of buckwheat or rice size, which is conveyed from coal bin to the fire through a small conveyor tube."

"After the anthracite is burned, the ash falls by gravity over the edge of the burner into a dust-tight storage pit beneath the floor."

County Legion Dinner Monday Night at Wallkill

The annual dinner of the Ulster County American Legion to the state commander will take place on Monday night, May 23, at Wallkill. At that time State Commander J. M. Cross will be the guest of the Ulster County Legion posts. Also at that time the American Legion Auxiliary county organization will have as guests State President Mrs. W. Harvey Seligman; Mrs. Edwin W. Ashby, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Herbert Hally, vice president; and Mrs. Horace W. French, third district chairman. The dinner will be held in the Community Hall and will take place at 7 o'clock. Following the dinner those attending will go to the high school where a joint meeting of the Legion and the Auxiliary will be held. Following the business meeting there will be dancing.

Les Barth of the local Legion post still has some tickets left for those who wish to go to the dinner, the cost being nominal. Reservations are to be made to him not later than Saturday.

The annual get-together of the Legionnaires of the county with the state commander is one of the outstanding events of the year and it is expected there will be a large representation on hand to greet Commander Cross. The Auxiliary is planning on a large turnout to welcome the state officers and messages of interest to all members will be given by the distinguished guests of both organizations.

Too Much Taxation

Garden City, L. I., May 20 (AP)—State Tax Commissioner Mark Graves believes increased unemployment is due to "excessive taxation of capital." Graves told Nassau County Bankers' Association last night that the belief that "heavy taxes are paid only by corporations and the wealthy is a fallacy." "Persons on relief," he said, "would be astounded if they realized the total amount of taxes concealed in the price of everything they purchase."

Casaccan Saves Fawn

Plummer, Idaho, May 20 (AP)—Dr. Charles Weinberg said today he performed a cesarean operation to save the life of a fawn deer. The mother deer's legs were broken when she was struck by a train. Twin fawns were delivered, but one died. The other, Dr. Weinberg said, is thriving on a bottle.

Plan for Closed Shop in Construction Work Here Ends in General Walk-out

Italo-French Pact Will Depend Upon Il Duce's Attitude

France, Relying on England's Friendship, Leaves Future Plans to Italy

Paris, May 20 (AP)—France, relying on her close alliance with Britain, has put the question of a friendship pact with Italy squarely up to Premier Mussolini.

Political informants made it clear today that negotiations, deadlocked since May 11, will have to be reopened by Italy.

France seemed to have found the formula she hoped would checkmate Italian efforts to use the Spanish Civil war as an excuse to break France's alliance with either Britain or Russia.

A French acceptance of a British plan for ending intervention in the Spanish war assured her of Britain's support. Should Mussolini refuse to negotiate a friendship agreement with France on that basis, Britain could not hold France responsible.

The result might be collapse of the recent Anglo-Italian pact, which is based on the same eventual withdrawal of Italian troops with insurers in Spain.

At the same time, France apparently has saved herself from offending Russia, as the British plan calls for equal withdrawal of volunteers from both sides.

England Pushes Aside

Britain, in the role of mediator, is endeavoring to re-start the negotiations between her two allies, and is expected to call a meeting of the non-intervention committee next week.

Germany's ambitions in central Europe are reported to be underlying reasons for a break in the friendly talks.

Informed political commentators said the Nazis were using their southern partner in the Rome-Berlin axis to keep France so involved in the Mediterranean she would be unable to block German plans in Czechoslovakia, where 3,500,000 Germans whom Germany contends should be under Nazi protection.

Among the welter of reports heard in several quarters—that Germany actually was adding the Barcelona government in an undercover effort to prolong the civil war.

Despite Premier Daladier's warning yesterday against circulation of reports damaging to France, rumors of all sorts continued.

One was that large detachments of German troops had been ordered up to the Rhine frontier. One morning paper which published this dispatch in the first edition withdrew the story from the next.

Refuse to Whip Boys

Fitchburg, Mass., May 20 (AP)—The parents of two boys remained adamant today in their refusal to carry out a court order to whip their sons for stealing railroad wire. Whether or not the boys remain under parental punishment they must appear again before Judge Thomas E. Gallagher, June 8. The 82-year-old juror who has ordered similar punishment in the past continued the case on Wednesday after suggesting the horsewhipping.

Killed in Mock War

Niagara Falls, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—A licensed airplane pilot was dead here today after he made a belated effort to compete in a "hockey" contest—a feature of National Air Mail Week observance. Carl Mollnow, 24, of North Tonawanda, N. Y., died when he, plane, from which he was dropping flour-filled paper bombs, crashed in the center of municipal airport.

Jail Me, Jail My Dog

Delhi, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—A colic dog is serving a 60-day sentence in Delaware county jail with his master. Sentenced by Sidney Peace Justice William Phelps to serve 60 days for stealing of $1.74 from milk bottles, Clyde O. Sheldon, 11, of New Berlin, N. Y., asked permission to keep the dog with him saying, "he is all I have in the world."

WPA Broadens List Of Eligibles For Work

All Works Progress Administration area directors in upstate New York have been notified by State Administrator Lester W. Herzog that they are authorized to requisition from welfare rolls all eligibles for WPA employment for whom projects are available who could be certified for transfer as of May 14.

This new order broadens the scope of relief employment by WPA, removing former restrictions and making immediately available for work all the employables listed on local welfare rolls as certified cases as of May 14.

Union carpenters in the city knocked off work on Thursday on orders from the local carpenters' union. "There is no strike," said Harry G. Gerhardt, delegate of the local union, today, "and no strike has been called. All that has happened is that the Building Trades Alliance is organizing a campaign to make all jobs union. It is said that the carpenters had been called off the jobs because non-union men were employed on the same jobs."

There are four contracting concerns in the city who have been employing union carpenters. They are Ritenbury, Swart, Joyce and Lyman D. Schoonmaker. The wage scale has been $5 a day.

Mr. Gerhardt when questioned about the wage scales said that wages had nothing to do with orders for the union carpenters to knock off work. They had been called off the jobs, he said, because non-union men were also employed.

One of the local contractors when seen today said he believed it was an attempt on the part of the Building Trades Alliance to force contractors to employ only union men on all construction jobs. These would include laborers, electrical workers, carpenters, masons and plumbers. He said that in 1928 and 1929 an attempt was made to have a closed shop in Kingston, but that the attempt had met with failure.

Predicts No Labor Trouble

Mr. Gerhardt said that as soon as contractors would sign an agreement to employ only union workers on construction jobs there would be no labor trouble.

Construction work is rather slack at the present time in the city, and one contractor claimed that his jobs were not held up as he was proceeding with the jobs by employing other men.

Others who claim to be in a position to know state that there are so many non-union workers in the city that the effort to unionize the trades again will meet failure.

It is stated that carpenters working on the New Myron J. Michael School here; the school under construction in Highland, and the water works jobs of New York city in southern Ulster are being paid at the rate of $9 a day.

Mr. Gerhardt was asked about that and said that the wage scale had nothing to do with the orders that had been given to knock off work. He said that wage scales varied. "It is simply an organizing campaign to make all jobs union jobs in the city."

Others Named

Besides Hayes, who has been mayor since 1920, the warrant named his executive secretary, Thomas P. Kelly, and former City Comptroller Daniel J. Leary. Among the other defendants are several of the state's most prominent political figures, including Harry E. Mackenzie and Charles E. Williamson, Fairfield county Republicans. Hayes is a Democrat.

Superior Court Judge Ernest A. Ingalls, who issued the bench warrant, ordered Hayes, Kelly, Leary and four others held in bonds of $25,000 each.

Ball for the 19 other defendants ranged downward to $5,000. The defeat of Leary, also a Democrat, by 33 votes through a coalition of Republicans and insurgent Democrats last December, led to the grand jury investigation. It was precipitated by Sherwood L. Rowland, the new comptroller, who charged he had found evidence of financial irregularities in the administration of his predecessor.

San Luis Potosi, Mexico, May 20 (AP)—Ex-Army General Saturnino Cedillo spread his peasant army into the hills today to prepare for guerilla warfare with the army of President Lázaro Cardenas.

He would not start it but he was ready with arms to repel "aggression," said Cedillo, 45-year-old Mexican Indian, Rightist political opponent of Cardenas, and for 20 years the dominant power of San Luis.

Cedillo was plotting rebellion, charged Cardenas, 42-year-old Radical leader of the nation's program of socialization of "Mexico for Mexicans" which was exemplified on March 18 by government expropriation of foreign-owned oil properties.

Their dispute was that between the Right and the Left, and many feared that if fighting began it might spread through the nation and make of Mexico another Spain.

The Cedillos fixed their number at 18,000 to 20,000. Cardenas, invading San Luis in person to establish calm, had 10,000 troops in the state. Two regiments of cavalry were on the way from Chihuahua, ten observation-combat planes landed here yesterday, and probably 20,000 troops could be brought to the state from nearby states.

Cedillo said he had "trustworthy" information the president was preparing to "try to crush me by force of arms" and that attack might come today. He kept to his vast Las Palomas estate near here with less than a dozen men last night, but his peasant force had taken to the hills and Cedillo was ready to follow.

Bitterly, the leader of Mexico's last important private army, whose fealty he held by land allotments on his estate, denied he plotted rebellion.

He saw himself as the victim of efforts by his enemies to destroy him, carried on since his designation as secretary of agriculture in a tilt with Cardenas last August.

Striking out at the president, Cedillo said in an interview with the Associated Press that the Mexican people was "tired of the infamous dictatorship, with Comunist trimmings, that is putting an end to all sources of wealth and submerging the country in ruin and misery."

Just Hungry

Hannibal, Mo.—The thief who broke into the home of William Love, Jr., had only an appetite. The total loot was three-fourths of a pie.

What To Do?

Baltimore, Md.—Miss Norman E. League asked the Public Service Commission what was "the usual procedure" when a street car conductor didn't have change for a $10 bill and asked you to get off.

The commission didn't know and turned the complaint over to the street car company with a request for suggestions.

Miss League said she wouldn't have objected but it was raining.

Plan for Sale of 8,000 Poppies

Buddy Poppies, symbol of Flanders Field, will be sold again on the streets of this city May 28, under the auspices of Joyce Schirick Post No. 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. This will be the 17th consecutive year in which the copyrighted Buddy Poppy will be sold for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans and for the care of the widows and orphans of World War dead.

The annual Buddy Poppy distribution is the one occasion of the year when the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States invites public cooperation and support in its philanthropic activities.

Buddy Poppy proceeds, for the last 16 years have been devoted exclusively to the relief work of the organization and to the maintenance of the V. F. W. National Home for war orphans, at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

The Buddy Poppy sale, in which more than 3,700 local posts of the V. F. W. will participate simultaneously throughout the country, offers the single opportunity of the year for obtaining the funds necessary to carry on the V. F. W. program among America's disabled veterans and their families, according to Commander Decker who is chairman of the local Buddy Poppy campaign.

Commander Decker also explained that the Buddy Poppies themselves are assembled by disabled veterans in government hospitals, who are paid for their work.

These earnings usually are the only sources of income open to these handicapped men, he explained.

Joyce Schirick Post No. 1386, V. F. W., hopes to sell a total of 8,000 Buddy Poppies this year, an increase of nearly 50 per cent over last year's sale.

ROSENDALE
Rosedale, May 19.—The final meeting of the Rosendale Apple Blossom Festival committee was held in the Firemen's Hall in this village on Tuesday evening, May 17. The purpose of the meeting was to settle the committee's accounts and to distribute the profits of the week-end among the participating organizations of which there were 14.

The regular meeting of the Rosendale Township Association was held in the Firemen's Hall in Rosendale on Tuesday evening, with President Joseph O'Connor in the chair. After the reading and adoption of the minutes of the last meeting, Ed Huben reported for the publicity committee, stating that the booklets would be ready for distribution not later than Monday. In a general discussion which followed, William Weisler brought out the fact that as a result of the efforts of the Central Hudson Corp. in New York City almost 50 requests for vacation information have been received in the last two weeks. The names and addresses, he said could be obtained from him at any time by any advertiser in the booklet. In the absence of Dr. E. P. Galvin, William Weisler reported that a new garbage disposal point had been located at Waterloo Hill, near the Fourth Binnewater, by Dr. Galvin and his committee. Letters of thanks were ordered sent to A. J. Snyder for the use of a portion of his land for the disposal of garbage in the past. Letters were also ordered sent to A. Trandale and Mayor Golden Lewis, thanking them for their help in cleaning up the Snyder property.

There was considerable discussion regarding the hiring of a social director for the coming season. Several boarding house proprietors who were present offered to keep such a man during the summer months if he should be chosen from out of town. With this arrangement in mind, the Township Association offered to raise the money needed to pay this man's salary.

Mrs. E. M. Huben, of the Woman's Club, offered her organization's share of the festival proceeds for this purpose and it was accepted. It was decided that the entertainment committee should put on a dance in the near future and possibly run a carnival later in the summer. After a favorable treasurer's report, the meeting was adjourned.

Y. M. Campers Plan Reunion

Camp Fruemaker, the local Y. M. C. A. Camp, located at Glen-erie Park, will hold its annual reunion in the Boys' Division of the "Y" tonight at 7:30. The program for the occasion is all set and enthusiasm is running high. A program consisting of camp songs, stories, some of the favorite campfire stunts, and refreshments are all set.

The special feature of the evening will be entertainment of a semi-professional nature given by "Ray" Kretser. Mr. Kretser is an imitator, impersonator, and comedian of no mean ability. Two years ago he won one of the Major Bowes Amateur Hours when that program was sponsored by Chase and Sanborn. Following the winning of the contest "Ray" played a week at the Times Square Paramount Theatre. Mr. Kretser has been associated with one of the radio artists groups that booked out of WGY in Schenectady. His specialty is an imitation of First Chief Ed Wynn. He is also well known for his imitations of all the barnyard inhabitants as well as aeroplanes, ferry boats in the fog, sawing wood and the like.

Music for the program will be furnished by "Bill" Grothkoop, whom most of the campers will remember as the pianist at camp last year. Word had been received from Francis Phillips, who was the assistant camp director last season, that if his time can be arranged he will be at the reunion to renew old acquaintances. The affair has all the promise of being a real reunion.

WANT AMID PLENTY

The latest reports indicate that there are now 20,000,000 people in the United States on relief rolls. It is said to be 7,500,000 less than the relief load in the winter of 1934, but it is growing. Even while some improvement appears here and there, the number of helpless men, women and children who must be supported by private or public funds increases as those near the edge use up their last resources.

Yet America looks, to most foreign nations, like a land of plenty. It is a land of plenty. We have more natural resources than any other country. We have more skill, better machinery, greater business ability. Even in our deep gloom we can live, and are living on the whole, better than any other nation. We can, and do, produce nearly everything we need, easily and in vast quantities. But somehow we don't seem able to pass it around. So work slackens, jobs vanish, the poor are starved into public relief and those who have savings and property see them melting away.

It is a very strange situation. Business blames it largely on government, government blames it largely on business, and other groups blame both more or less. Yet it is natural to wonder whether there isn't some big, general cause not yet seen clearly for this crisis of private capitalism. And it is more important to find the cause, and chart a wiser course, than to fight about it.

TRAIN TEMPERATURES
 A group of British hotel men, in America to study hotel methods here, came to the end of their tour limping and disgruntled. Their chief complaint was not against the hotels they had been exploring, but against the railroad trains and dining car service. All the trains were too warm, they said. Several members of the party developed swollen feet from the 85 degree temperature that was maintained on most coaches.

In the dining cars they said they found poor service and expensive food. The dining car tea situation in particular annoyed them. They had to pay as much for the beverage alone as they would pay for a "whole tea" on English trains. A whole tea presumably includes the sliced and buttered bread, scones and other adjuncts to British afternoon teas.

If American railroads did not measure up to the British ideal, the hotels redeemed the nation somewhat. The British experts had unbounded praise for the American hotel men's "genius for hospitality". That, we suppose, covers everything—service, food, prices, comfort and treatment. If these British explorers would just come back in the summer and try our air-conditioned trains, their feet and dispositions might feel better. But we have to admit that overheating trains and public buildings in the winter is one of our queer faults.

SOLOMON'S SEAPORT
 The archeologists, who dig up everything sooner or later, have found King Solomon's seaport. Many will be surprised to learn that the famous Hebrew sovereign ever had a seaport. There seems to be no direct reference to it in the Bible, and Solomon has been thought of as a landsman, particularly because of his confession that "the way of a ship in the sea" was too much for him. He didn't seem to know what made it go. And probably he avoided sea travel because it made him sick. It may have been the wave motion that was too much for him. Yet it is recorded that he built ships with the help of Hiram, king of Tyre.

It was logical to think that he must have had a seaport to handle the commerce that would come from Africa and Arabia and farther regions, by water. And the evidence of that port is found where it might have been expected, in the nearest sheltered water, at the end of the Gulf of Aqabah, which is the eastern arm of the northern end of the Red Sea. There was no good harbor near Jerusalem or the Mediterranean. There must have been a caravan route from Aqabah to Jerusalem. A small city flourished there for two centuries. After nearly 3,000 years it is naturally an obscure mass of ruins, with few surface signs of its ancient life. But the archeologists dig up bricks, old records, spear-heads, nails and fish hooks.

We would like to think that Solomon went fishing there occasionally. How could he have been so wise without doing any fishing?

PRESCRIPTION FOR CAPITALISM
 "If there is any lesson the world is teaching business today," writes Editor Raymond Moley in Newsweek, "it is that the yield on ventured capital is going to be small, but that, if it is not ventured, the capital itself will disappear. And if there is any lesson the world is teaching the Administration today, it is that something positive is needed to stimulate the adventure of capital. Both government and capital must begin to take some chances. Let Congress take a few political risks and business will respond by taking some more business risks, both in the direction the Administration wants it to go and in the direction it has always gone—toward that revived expansion on more modest hopes of profit which alone can revive our production."

It reads like a good recipe for recovery. Perhaps the most important thing in it is the reminder that in this curious, half-understood system of private capital, it is literally true that capital not used melts away. Money or capital is mostly a matter of bookkeeping in connection with business operations, and naturally shrinks as business shrinks.

BOOKS FOR MEXICANS
 Here is something as surprising as the man biting the dog. It is a country that frees all imported books from duties and stamp taxes. Mexico is the foreign land that has taken this liberal step. The idea is to further culture in Mexico.

Here is an attitude in cheering contrast to the present German rule of barring entirely all foreign books which seem antagonistic to Nazism and burning even those classics long familiar in Germany but which, in recent years, are considered too liberal to be safe.

Apparently Mexicans are to be allowed to read any books they choose, and their freedom of choice is secured by making it easier to obtain books from other lands.

MIGRAINE—ONE SIDED HEADACHE

I write frequently about migraine—one sided headache—because thousands suffer with it and the only relief usually obtained is by going to bed for two or three days to a week by which time the attack passes. As the cause has been believed to be due to overwork—mental and physical—rest would thus seem to be the logical treatment.

Perhaps the most efficient treatment that has been discovered is that of ergotamine tartrate, full details of which were given by Dr. Mary O'Sullivan some months ago in the Journal of the American Medical Association. The ergotamine tartrate is given by injection into the muscles by a physician or may be taken in tablet form by mouth. Even when taken by mouth, however, the size of the dose should be as ordered by the physician, the dose usually depending upon the severity of the attacks. This drug is given differently by the different drug manufacturers but physicians know these names.

Physicians have found that migraine occurs in families and in individuals who work hard or do things in the hard or "tense" way. In other words individuals of this type need only an exciting cause to bring on an attack.

Some further information on migraine is given by Dr. W. H. Riley, Battle Creek, Mich., in the Michigan State Medical Society Journal, who, among other points, mentions the following:

1. Among the exciting causes of migraine are depressive emotions such as those associated with worry, anxiety, fear, anger, fatigue, exhaustion, loss of sleep, eyestrain, excessive use of the eyes, using the eyes in a bright light.

2. Being sensitive to certain foods—eggs, fat rich foods, milk, cream, ice cream, wheat and others.

3. Increased alkalinity of the blood. These individuals often work so hard they starve themselves and often do not eat enough meat and fish.

4. Spasm in the blood vessels in the brain. In the opinion of Dr. Riley this spasm of the arteries of the brain which of course prevents a proper supply of blood from reaching the brain and removing wastes, is responsible for many other symptoms besides the headaches, such as temporary loss of sight and speech, and also dizziness.

These individuals who have this tendency to migraine should learn then that it is tenseness that causes the spasm of the bloodvessels, and thus the migraine.

MIGRAINE

Migraine—one sided headache—is one of the commonest results of food allergy. Other ailments due to oversensitiveness to certain foods are described and diet suggestions to overcome these ailments are given in Dr. Barton's helpful booklet (No. 106) entitled "Food Allergy". Send ten cents for each copy to cover cost of service and mailing to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd Street, New York, N. Y., mentioning the name of this paper.

OCTAGON HOUSE

BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

The Story So Far: Unscrupulous Marina Lorne, whose husband's post office mural has aroused Quonomet, is murdered by a left handed blow from her sister's knife. Asey Mayo, Cane Cod detective, learns certain facts: Pam Frye tells him she found $50,000 worth of ambergris which Marina tried to claim, and hid it after discovering the murder. She disappears from Asey's house realizing that an unknown person, who smokes Turkish tobacco, is trailing her to learn the whereabouts of the ambergris. Agreeable Tim Carr, a boarder at the Frye's Octagon House, is left handed, smokes Turkish tobacco, and hated Marina in New York. Gobby Aunt Nettie Hobbs is swearing Pam killed her sister.

Chapter 13

Another Motive

Asey drew a deep breath. "Pam an' Nettie," he said, "they're sort of cousins. Is that it? Jennie, how in the world do you happen to know all that? You reeled it off like you'd been sayin' it every day for thirty years."

"It'd be peculiar if I didn't."

"Well, they say someone that was pictured in that mural got mad, an' went for Jack Lorne."

"But they didn't kill him. They killed Marina."

Jennie nodded. "That's just it. Jack Lorne's a good painter, least-ways he was when he first come to town. You could tell what he meant to paint, in those days. After Marina married him, he begun to paint this horrid stuff where folks' faces were the same size as their stomachs, or their heads like pins. He did the nicest picture of the lily pond. I remember that. Last summer I saw his things in the exhibition, an' they was all mud flats an' dung heaps. Stuff like that."

"An' you think Marina made the change in him?" Asey asked.

"It's not that so much, but—well, people did some thinkin', an' they thought about Jack Lorne. Nobody likes him, but he ain't what you'd call bad. He isn't so horrid, Asey, just sort of slow thinkin', if you know what I mean. Not stupid, but slow. Folks wonder if he thought up them cartoons like—all by himself, see? An' the way some folks finger is this. Suppose someone who's been painted in that mural got mad at Jack Lorne, an' then thought it out, an' decided Marina put Jack up to it—you see what I mean?"

Asey nodded. It was exactly the same sort of thing that Pam Frye had brought up during their conversation on those pink granite post office steps the day before.

"Gallivantin' And Traipsin'"

"THERE'S also another side," he remarked, "now I consider it. S'posin' Jack Lorne begins to realize what a hornet's nest he's stirred up with his mural. An' how the caricatures Marina put him up to are the things that are the most horrid, I wonder if he'd be mad enough—it don't seem so."

"If he thought that, Marina'd of talked him out of it right away," Jennie said. "She's talked him out of lots and lots of things. Why, he loved her, they say. He even thought she was faithful to him, think of that! An' her gallivantin' and traipsin' around with every Tom, Dick and Harry. This year it's been that boob Roddy Strutt. They say that's how Jack got to do that mural."

Asey had to confess that the connection escaped him entirely.

"Why, it's simple, Asey. Roddy's uncle is somethin' in Washington. He had the what would you call it? the letting out of this painting. Lots of people tried for the job in a sort of competition, but Jack Lorne won. An' they say that his wasn't anywhere near the best—from what I hear I guess it was the worst! Anyway, Roddy spoke to his uncle and Jack won. An' you can guess why Roddy spoke to his uncle! An' now, Asey Mayo, Hobbs' shut her mouth up! Perhaps if you stop her talk the police won't think so much about Pam Frye, an' then she can come back. Poor Aaron, he must be awful upset! You hurry along, an' I'll finish up my cleanin'."

Out in his garage, Asey surveyed his long, gleaming Porter roadster. Yesterday that car had caused no commotion in the town of Quonomet, but today it undeniably would. Any number of people who didn't actually know him, would recognize him by the car, and by his familiar hat and jacket. Once he was recognized, he'd be surrounded, and then Hanson would come. On the whole, it seemed wiser not to be Asey Mayo.

General Offices an "Eye-Opener"

It is too bad that the country shareowner cannot visit "his" company's general offices. It would give him many new ideas on redecorating his own office.

Down in Oklahoma, Mississippi, mahogany furniture, thick soft rugs, Venetian blinds, air-conditioning, receptionists with Park Avenue accents—all this would make quite a sensation back home. It might even create a ripple of interest among Washington architects! But without these luxuries our Mississippi friend has been able to sell his product at a low price. He has not been cheating his customers. He has kept his overhead down and has put quality into his product.

But many people tell you there is no real need for a stockholders' union. Do they think that no corporation chieftain would install his own son as vice president of the company? Do not think this occurs only in public life! Do they believe that no business official would pad his expense account? Do not believe that only politicians can get big mileage allowances! Do they imagine that no employee would be fired for holding liberal ideas? Do not imagine that is all propaganda and nonsense put out by the National Labor Relations Board! Have not bankers been guilty of wrong decisions? Have not corporations tried unduly to influence public opinion?

World Is Slowly Improving

Big Business has plenty for which to answer. Corporation executives have done things that public officials could never get away with. By high-handed and self-indulgent policies they have hurt the cause of business in America to the tune of untold billions. President Roosevelt, on his part, has also unfortunately hurt business and increased unemployment by his relentless, intemperate antagonism. To watch over their own interests, therefore, investors need a protective organization just as workers need unions and political parties need machines!

Yet I am an optimist. The very fact that our newspaper is publishing this article shows the world is progressing! In 1929, the nation had no conscience about these things. To criticize graft or inefficiency in high places was considered treason. Now, this has largely changed. Our nation has been experiencing a slow-moving character improvement during the past eight years. The very fact that people today criticize what they applauded 10 years ago is one basic reason why I believe we are headed for better business and higher security prices!

Shoe factories within a 150-mile radius of St. Louis produced 72,000,000 pairs of shoes in 1937 with a wholesale value of $155,000,000.

Miss Clinton Tells Training Students For Band Playing

The origin, organization and training of the Kingston High School Band, and the inclusion of band instrument training in the grade and high schools was discussed before members of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday noon by Miss Eva Clinton, assistant supervisor of music in the public schools. Miss Clinton was introduced by Program Chairman George Reindel, as "one who started from scratch with the band idea and developed something of which all Kingston is proud."

Prior to the address the club was held in several vocal numbers by Harold V. Clayton accompanied at the piano by Danny Bittner. Miss Clinton spoke as follows: "It gives me great pleasure to be the guest of such genial hosts as the members of the Kiwanis Club of Kingston. I have been a visitor at this club several times and have always been impressed with the friendly atmosphere which exists."

"Mr. Reindel has asked me to talk about the Kingston High School band, and I shall briefly tell you of the work that is done in the band department of the Kingston public schools. My mornings are devoted to the supervision of the regular vocal music that is taught in the seventh and eighth grades. During the afternoon instrumental classes are conducted in the basement of the various grade schools. A pupil may study any brass or woodwind instrument. The classes number from six to 10 or 12, depending on the type of instrument signed up for by the pupils, and the degree of advancement. For instance I may have a beginners' class of six composed of one trumpet, one clarinet, two saxophones, a flute and a drum. The next period I might have an advanced class of 12, composed of 10 clarinets and two saxophones which would be a much easier class to teach. With this set up there would have been two large beginners classes the year before, made up largely of clarinets."

"This year we have a total of 75 successful players in the grade school band. At the beginning of the fall term (1937) about 90 enrolled for work. A small percentage always drop out through sickness, change of address, or lack of practice. However, attendance is checked carefully, and students are never dropped from class until I am certain that they cannot continue because of low marks in their other subjects, or that through lack of practice or indifference they are a hindrance to the progress of the rest of the class.

"The pupils have their regular classes at a given time and are given a music lesson once a week. The lesson lasts about three-quarters of an hour. This means that since there are approximately 40 weeks in the school year, they have about that number of lessons, barring sicknesses and holidays, of which there are quite a few. The pupils are taken through a first year and a second year instruction book. After that they are given regular band music. The schedule of work has to be somewhat flexible since any pupils from the fifth through the eighth grade may enroll in the class. Therefore if a pupil starts work while in the fifth grade he may have to repeat some of the work if his class does not retain a sufficient number during four years to warrant continuing his advanced class. Since there are limited hours during the week in which to work, these few pupils have to be sacrificed to the general cause and they must do review work."

"In the fall, blanks are sent to the homes of the children from the fifth through the eighth grades. If a child wishes to study an instrument, his parents sign this slip and are requested to call me at my office at specified times for an interview. Children must possess peculiar requirements for the playing of various instruments. For instance, a little fellow whose arm is short should not be started on a trombone, which requires a long reach of the arm for certain slide positions, and a boy with irregular jaw formation and jutting teeth should not be started on a cornet."

"The children buy their own instruments and, of course, there are many questions about their purchases. I always refer the parents to all of the music dealers in town and try to give general information concerning the relative prices of various instruments. For instance, I tell them that flutes, baritones and saxophones are at a higher price level than cornets, clarinets and drums. I do try to influence the number of certain instruments purchased so that I will eventually have a balanced band."

"Many parents do not decide the matter immediately and it is usually two months before each member of the class has an instrument. Through experience I have learned that if I want the classes started early, the easiest thing to do is to personally call on or to telephone each prospect during the first weeks of school. This starts everything going somewhat sooner than otherwise. Many parents instead of calling my office at the specified times call my home early in the morning and even late at night, and every fall I conclude that a school teacher is, in truth, a servant of the public."

"The class gets nicely started about Christmas time. I am purposely stressing the time element involved because it is because of this lack of time that it is so hard to prepare the children for many public appearances. At the recent May Day held by the grade schools, many members of the grade school band had begun rehearsals only in September. Major rehearsals with a drum major were held after school as were rehearsals to teach this band to march."

"Several bands outside of school have been organized with these people. When they get to high school they join the high school band which at the present time numbers 50."

"The present high school band has been in existence for four years. In 1936 it numbered about 30 and gave a concert at the high school. The band was young and inexperienced but needed uniforms. It gave a creditable performance but Kingston is a very conservative city and even after working very hard on music, with plenty of publicity and hard work on the part of student ticket sellers, we cleared only $100. This $100 together with a donation from one of the high school senior classes and a donation from the Board of Education, was used to purchase uniforms. The band has grown a little larger each year and each year the Board of Education has provided additional uniforms. We are fortunate in having school officials who are enthusiastically inclined toward music and its needs."

"The high school band rehearses once a week after school for an hour and a half."

"Here again may I emphasize the time element involved."

"I have ideals of playing in mind for this band and try to spend most of the year on classical selections so that these students will have a creditable music background. We do have to spend quite a bit of time on just marches for the football games in the fall and for special marching appearances. Many marching rehearsals and lessons in drum majoring must be held at special meetings called in the evening. Perhaps out school in the future will be able to give more time to music during school hours as is done especially in many progressive cities in the west. There "y" have daily instrumental classes and daily band rehearsals and can produce really fine organizations. They also have specialized classes such as clarinet classes and trumpet classes with no other instruments involved, which makes for better playing."

"Our policy is to encourage our students to a certain amount of work to find a local private teacher and continue work with him while still playing in school organizations. Only about 10 per cent are fortunate enough to be able to do this. But for the advanced work of these few we are indebted to the private teacher."

"Besides learning music we feel that these band students gain poise and pleasure and learn to cooperate and exercise critical judgment. These things help the student to later more successfully find his place in the world."

"The work with these children is very fascinating and I enjoy it. The students are enthusiastic and we have the support of the Board of Education which provides an amount every year for the purchase of the large and more unusual instruments which the children are not apt to want to buy but which are necessary for the completion of a balanced band. Such instruments are the bass drums, sousaphones, oboes, etc."

"Both the students reward and my own comes in the definite approval, enjoyment and enthusiasm of the townspeople who enjoy seeing and hearing a group of young people in a uniformed marching band."

Local Invention Gets Publicity

The little magazine published by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation entitled "Gas & Electric Sales News" in a recent issue devoted considerable space to Michael J. Gallagher, electrical contractor of 42 East Strand, this city and his latest invention.

Mr. Gallagher's invention is a stamped metal bracket provided with four ears or lugs together with necessary holes so that it may be nailed to a stud. It is placed at a specified height by reason of an indicator mark stamped on each bracket and a new leveling device, also devised by Mr. Gallagher. The front edge of the bracket is brought flush with the face of the stud and the bracket nailed in place. An opposite bracket is then nailed in place on the next stud. Two wood cross pieces are placed in recesses formed by the lugs and " toenailed" to studs and the electric outlet box is then nailed or screwed to the cross pieces.

An outlet box set in this manner will be accurately and securely installed, and there will be sufficient space on the opposite face of the same studs for a similar arrangement of outlets if they should be required there. A number of Kingston electrical contractors are already using Mr. Gallagher's cleat and the Caulfield Supply Company is carrying them in stock. Mr. Gallagher in referring to the new metal cleat states that his invention relates to supports for electric outlet boxes and has for its object the provision of a support by means of which these boxes can be quickly, economically and accurately set in place.

Defense Motion Pictures in Bear Case To Be Shown

A special investigator and a motion picture operator were called this morning to the stand in the boxing bear case to testify and lay a foundation for the offering of motion pictures taken last March at the Kearney avenue address of the Walldorf Brothers at Cliffside Park, N. J., by men employed by the defense. It was reported that the pictures would be shown at the afternoon session of court.

Asked as to whether the pictures showed the boxing bear, the photographer who took the pictures said the films showed the bear at the home of the Walldorfs tied to a stake and being taken by Willie Walldorf to the cage but did not show the boxing act being played. The film will show the bear walking on his hind legs as well as walking on all four.

Plaintiffs allege that after the accident at Highland last September when a Greyhound bus struck the truck on which the bear was, that the bear has refused to box in a demonstration for the benefit of the jury Willie Walldorf attempted to get the bear to rise up on his hind legs and have boxing gloves placed on his paws as was done in the act. They claim he refuses now to have gloves placed on his paws and do his boxing stunt. Pictures shown by plaintiff showed the bear boxing with his opponent in an almost human manner prior to the accident.

Action Settled
Michael Nardone, attorney for the plaintiff, was put on the stand this morning by the defense and asked whether it was a fact that an action brought by the Walldorfs against Hamid Enterprises, Inc., has been settled. He said the action had been adjusted and settled for $500. At the opening of the action several days ago the court dismissed the complaint as against George A. Hamid, Enterprises, Inc., leaving only the Greyhound bus line as a defendant. Originally the Walldorf Brothers brought their action against both the bus company and Hamid Enterprises.

Called next was Mr. Hazzard, a special investigator, who testified he had been employed by the defense to visit the Walldorf home in Cliffside Park, N. J., and check on the activities of the bear Teddy. He worked between March 12 and 22 and said he concealed himself in some convenient place and observed the bear chained to a stake on the Walldorf premises. The bear was out on every day he visited the scene except one. At times he saw Willie Walldorf come out and feed the bear and take it to its cage. The bear was watered and fed and children played about the place. On many occasions he said he saw the bear stand up on its hind legs. This the bear did when at times when there was not there. On one occasion the witness said he saw another man put the bear in the cage, in going to the cage the bear sometimes walked on all four feet and sometimes only on two.

On March 19 and 20 motion pictures were taken of the bear at 118 Kearney avenue. The bear was alone on Saturday but on Sunday Willie Walldorf was present.

At this time Gustave Walldorf was in Germany.

Sees Bear Walk
Mr. Hazzard said he had seen the bear at numerous times walk on his hind legs.

Mr. Edsall, the photographer, testified he took pictures on March 19 of the bear and again on March 20. On the second day Willie was there and made no objection to the pictures. The pictures were taken from the drive about 20 feet from the bear and Willie did not protest the pictures being taken. In the film Mr. Edsall said Willie appeared. He told of feeding peanuts to the bear for the purpose of making him walk.

Cross examined by Mr. Cook, Edsall said he did not see the bear do any boxing while the pictures were being taken. He simply stood up on his rear feet at times. This was done when Walldorf was not there as well as when Walldorf was present.

After proving the manner of taking the pictures, cross was taken until 2 o'clock when counsel will present the film.

Two passengers on the bus, Miss Forrester and a second woman, testified that at the time of the accident it was very foggy and the bus was traveling slowly. They felt a sudden stop after the bus swerved to the left after striking some object. Miss Forrester said she saw one dim light on the rear of the truck.

Industrials and Rails Show Losses

The first major purchase of a utility property in connection with the administration's power program seems to be well on the way to consummation as it is announced that directors of National Power & Light Co. yesterday accepted an offer of the city of Knoxville and the TVA to buy the electric properties of the Tennessee Public Service Co. for $7,500,000, an increase of $400,000 over the offer made last week by the mayor of Knoxville. The price, it is stated, represents a substantial loss and means approximately $55 a share on the preferred stock after giving 100 cents on the dollar for the $7,500,000 of bonds, and $70 a preferred share if the bondholders accept $96.50 per $100 unit of the bonds, as they agreed to in a previous offer made in 1934. The deal is not considered encouraging to holders of securities in other utility corporations in the area faced by government competition as it ignores the earning power of the property as a going concern, since the company earned about $200,000 on its common stock in the year ended March 31. Stockholders must still vote on the proposal.

Rail labor unions have issued a statement that if the railroads insist on going through with a 15 per cent wage cut the result will be a nationwide rail strike. At the same time the Senate bill which provides for more liberal loans to railroads by the RFC has been recommended to Senator Wagner's banking and currency committee "for further study." Congressional leaders yesterday expressed doubt that emergency railroad aid legislation would be enacted this session.

Industrial shares, after registering total advances of $1.64 a share in Tuesday and Wednesday's trading, turned downward Thursday and showed loss for the day of 1.74 points, to 115.28 in the Dow-Jones averages. The rails continued the trend which has marked them since last week and showed a loss for the day of 0.28 point, to 22.25. Utilities also lost 0.28 point, down to 19.17.

Copper futures were weak and domestic sellers cut their price to one cent a pound, valley base delivered, lowest domestic price since October 8, 1935.

E. W. Bliss deferred action on proposed payments.

American Chain and Cable voted 15 cents on common vs. proposed 25 cents.

Four weeks' strike of UAW workers at Michigan Steel Castings over a ten per cent wage cut was settled; cut remains in effect.

Engineering construction awards this week totaled $45,614,000, of which $17,373,000 were private, compared with $55,244,000, of which $38,617,000 were private a year ago.

Earnings assets of New York City member banks declined $132,000,000 in week ended May 18, to $7,562,000,000, a new low. There was a drop of $46,000,000 in holdings of governments and commercial loans declined $14,000,000.

President Dow of Detroit Edison, declared that much of the decline in industry generally was due to fear of the administration. He looks for a further slight decline in production in the Detroit area this summer.

Explain Stand

Washington, May 20 (AP)—Three judges of the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals at Philadelphia told the Supreme Court today that if the National Labor Relations Board were permitted to "delay indefinitely" the prosecution of litigation involving the Republic Steel Corporation it "might well be destructive of the morale of employees and the credit of their employer."

Will Ban Dances

Valparaiso, Ind., May 20 (AP)—W. C. Kieckhefer, president of the Lutheran University Association, announced today all dances will be banned at Valparaiso University next year to cooperate with an official stand taken by the Lutheran church.

New York, May 20 (AP)—Offerings dwindled substantially after an opening sell-off in today's stock market and initial losses running to a point or more were subsequently chipped down or changed into moderate gains.

Dealings, fairly fast at the start, slowed appreciably as the session progressed and, near the final hour, the ticker tape frequently was at a standstill. Transfers were at the rate of approximately 500,000 shares.

Brokerage quarters were agreeably surprised that copper issues were noticeably resistant in the face of yesterday's more than expected cut in the domestic price of the red metal.

Bonds were uneven, with rails lower. Commodities were also mixed. Copper futures again turned downward in sympathy with the drop in the American price.

Schirick Rules Out 2 Cases in the Bear Trial on Thursday

With two of the boxing bear actions brought against the Greyhound bus line disposed of by dismissal, the remaining three actions were continued Thursday afternoon when the defense took up their side of the story.

The two cases which were dismissed involved claims for $75,000 while the remaining claims involve claims amounting to $100,500.

At the close of the plaintiffs' cases Thursday, Mr. Broderick for the defense moved to dismiss the complaints on the usual grounds and also specifically the claim of George A. Humid, Inc., an action for $25,000 for alleged loss of profits, both present and future because of the fact that the bear would no longer box. It was this agency which brought the act to the United States and hooked it complaint on the law. A motion was also made in the case of Willie Waldorf, who sued for injuries and for loss of profits which he claimed because his brother was injured and cannot box with the bear. Justice Schirick ruled that no evidence had been offered to show that Willie had suffered any injury and he ruled that under the law there could be no recovery by Willie for injuries which the brother, Gustave, suffered.

Three Actions Remain

Remaining for the jury's determination are three actions, one for $500 brought by George A. Hamid Enterprises, Inc., for damage to the truck; a second brought by Gustave Waldorf for $50,000 for personal injuries and also $50,000 brought by the two brothers as partners in the bear act for damages to the bear which they allege now prevent the bear from continuing his boxing act.

With motions disposed of, the defense called on Donald Hulett, of Newburgh, relief driver who was in charge of the bus at the time of the crash last September when his Greyhound bus traveling through a thick fog struck the truck on which the bear act was being moved. On the bus were 12 passengers, none of whom were injured.

Running Second Section

Hulett testified he was running as a second section for the regular run out of Albany to New York. He told of the lights on his bus, including fog lights. He described the fog as heavy which prevented seeing far ahead. His headlights were diffused, making a limited vision. A spot light was being used to light the division line between the concrete strips to keep the bus on the concrete. This light shone about a foot ahead of the front bumper but his headlights shone some 30 or 40 feet ahead.

Just prior to the accident Hulett said he had not seen the truck or its lights. At the point of accident there is a slight curve in the road. His bus traveled about 20 feet diagonally across the road after he had struck the left rear of the truck with his front right fender and door. The truck was driven ahead. Just prior to the crash he had been traveling on the right lane of concrete. After the crash the truck was a short distance ahead of the bus and when he had inquired if any passengers were injured and found none hurt he got out to place flares but a passing truckman took them and set them out and he went to the truck where he found the three men all on the ground at the rear talking excitedly. One man was cut on the forehead and the wife of the driver said her shoulder was injured. A passing car took the two to Highland for treatment by a physician.

Saw "Dark Object"

Hulett said when he saw a "dark object" loom out of the fog he was but 10 feet away and he turned his bus toward the left and applied his brakes. Two contact was with the left rear of the truck body. Hulett said he stopped a car and asked the driver to take the two injured to Highland and both walked to the car and got in.

From the time of the accident until the State Troopers came both vehicles remained as they stopped. Later the truck was pushed off the road and when a relief bus came two hours later Hulett continued his trip to New York.

The tail light on the Hamid truck was located three feet under the body on the chassis and was described by the bus driver as "very poor". In addition to the tail light he saw no other light on the rear of the truck but saw two headlights on the front. Hulett said he was traveling about 25 miles an hour at the time. He had left Kingston at 2:25 and the accident happened about 3:30 o'clock. He had not stopped at Highland.

Cross-examined by Mr. Cook Hulett said he had left Kingston at 2:25 o'clock, two minutes behind schedule and was following another bus. He had arrived from Albany on time. His schedule called for arrival at Highland at 2:55 but he was 15 to 20 minutes late there and had not stopped.

It was a very foggy night and there had been some fog in patches north of Kingston. From the Mid-Hudson bridge circle down to the point of the accident the fog was very thick.

At Highland all of the passengers on the bus were awake. Hulett said he had not talked to any of the passengers on the way down.

In order to see better he had his low beam headlights on as well as a spot-light and the fog light. His lights showed 35 to 40 feet ahead. The spot showed about a foot ahead of the front wheels and he used that light to guide him along the asphalt strip between the concrete strips. This kept him on the road. The fog lights did not show ahead further than the headlights and his vision became diffused as it penetrated the fog. His vision was about 30 feet ahead of the bus.

At Albany the first bus was stalled and Hulett was called out to take the second section, a 33 passenger bus with a dozen passengers. One passenger had entered the bus at Kingston and he then started south. The first bus left Kingston just as he entered and he never saw the first bus again.

Right of Road Obscured.

The right of the road was somewhat obscured at the point of the accident because he was rounding a slight curve and his headlights shone more to the left or center of the road at the point. His vision on the right strip of concrete was then about 20 feet because of the fog and curve, he said.

At 25 miles an hour he said he could stop his bus in 20 feet. He first saw the truck when it was 10 feet ahead because the fog was "full of shadows". He applied his brakes and turned his bus toward the center of the road.

After the crash he said he examined the tail light on the Hamid truck and found it was very dim, almost an orange color. He was unable to tell much about other lights on the truck but said he saw none lighted except the tail light.

Edward Brownell and Charles Snyder of Grand Gorge were called and told of arriving with their truck after the crash. They saw no other lights on the truck which were lighted except the tail light and head light.

John W. Groucher of Albany, a passenger on the bus, said he saw nothing of the truck except a dark shadow. There was a tall light burning dim on the truck and also head lights so far as he observed after the accident.

The case was to be continued today.

During the siege of Paris in 1871 there were 61 balloons sent up with 91 passengers, 351 pic-nics and 3,000,000 letters.

NO "UNCIVILIZED" WHIPPING FOR THEM

Convicted of stealing wire from a railroad signal system, William Allen (left), 15, and Harold Woodworth, 16, may be saved from a horsewhipping in Fitchburg, Mass., police station cellar because parents said the verdict was "uncivilized." One mother said she would rather pay a fine of "about $50" out of a $10-per-week income.

"Leave the hedges and fens overrun if you want to encourage game birds to use your land," says Professor R. S. Moser of the forestry department, New York state college of agriculture. Spring cleaning dresses up all farms, he points out, but for the sake of the game birds on the farm, the owner should leave some cover. Many game birds and small farm game use these areas for nesting.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Crooks

HOLLYWOOD—The ad in the "Personals" was intriguing. "See Hollywood night life accompanied by the film stars of yesterday," it invited.

So I called the number—and I met Cherie Ray. Cherie's a hearty blonde with an office on Hollywood boulevard. The sign offers "professional escorts" and "professional listening," and if the telephone's repeated ringing means anything Cherie is doing a good business.

Cherie got the idea two years ago when she came down from San Francisco for a visit, bringing her nicest clothes, and didn't see anything of Hollywood because she didn't know anybody. A woman traveling alone couldn't just page an escort out of thin air, so Cherie went home. In Egypt, a friend told her, a woman could always find a reliable, presentable guide, perfectly safe and on the up-and-up. So Cherie came back, and went into business.

It might strike you as a business fraught with potential dynamite, this supplying of "dates" for lone-some visitors and residents.

Employs 126 Persons
"It isn't," said Cherie. "I know people. I can size up a customer in a minute. If there's anything funny in the air, I catch it. Then all my escorts are busy, and it's no deal."

The retired vaudeville and stock actress gives part-time employment to 49 men, ages 21 to 60, and 77 women, ages 21 to 50. Her basic requirement in selecting "escorts" is college background. Refinement, personality, and character are others equally essential. She has college boys, film extras, stenographers, a young doctor or two, a lawyer, and a couple of titles on her list. Tennis players, golfers, motorists, horseback riders, fillers-in-at-bridge, guides to see the sights are called for as often as evening escorts. The regular fee is $10, for evening dress $15. This is split 50-50, the customer paying the freight of the "date."

Also A "Listener"
"I believe I've prevented quite a few divorces with this work," she says. "How? Well, a convention is in town. The wife comes along with the husband. He's having a swell time, banquets, parties, meetings. She's sitting in her hotel room, fuming. They've been home and what fun's she had? She can't forget it, won't let him forget it. Presto, divorce! But if she calls me, then she has a swell time. Goes places and sees things. Both happy, see?"

"Professional listening" is more or less a sideline—Cherie does it, $3 an hour, $2 a half hour.

"That's a real service too," she says.

Maverick Theatre Opens on June 23

Woodstock, May 20. — The Maverick Theatre, Woodstock, opens its summer season on Thursday, June 23 with "The Play's The Thing," a comedy by Ferenc Molnar. The theatre, now under the management of the Maverick Co-operative, will be open on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights, presenting a different play each week and ending the season on Labor Day.

Vince Hall, the new director, has assembled a cast of twenty-five players, all of whom have had professional experience in New York or summer stock.

The Maverick String Quartet, a new ensemble, will give a short concert before each performance in the theatre. This new ensemble will be composed of musicians already well-known to Ulster county audiences.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—There is, it appears, an inexplicable tendency on the part of actors, even among stars and the more celebrated players, to jumble their lines on opening night. They seldom muffle cues or forget their lines, but they frequently say them backward and thus provide audiences with laughs not intended by the authors and directors.

One such contretemps occurred the other evening and the audience completely broke down. I have in mind that scene in "The Circle," a revival starring Grace George, where one of the actors has a line which goes: "Why, Lady Kitty, she had a beauty that would take your breath away." The momentarily befuddled actor said it this way: "Why, Lady Kitty, she had a breath that would take your beauty away." It was nine minutes before quiet was restored.

THE Hapsburg, a Viennese restaurant in the Fifties with a doorman who looks like Franz Joseph, is owned by two copy writers of the firm of Young and Rubicam.

Mel Graff, the comic artist, has been on a two-month fishing jaunt to Florida. . . . Does his work between cases. . . . Carl Hubbell, the pitcher, throws his hands but signs his contracts with his right hand. . . . That blast against the high salaries of film stars whose pictures don't make money has been brewing for months. . . . A distributor told me to expect it last January. . . . But I ignored it, and thereby lost a good story. . . . Got four more Indian head pennies to-day. . . . A news dealer swapped "em for a pass to the movies.

It seems silly, but there is a blacksmith within two squares of Grand Central terminal. . . . Gets his trade from mounted cops and truck wagon drivers. . . . Mcयोmo, Hawaiian dancer who starred for five months in a New York hotel last season, was made Queen of the May in Honolulu this year.

PROBABLY the oddest job in the world is held by a man on the Warner brothers' lot in Hollywood. He holds horses' hooves. Not long ago a horse kicked Richard Cromwell, and they decided to do something about it. So a man was hired to stand out of camera range and hold up the horse's front hoof. If you hold up a horse's front hoof, he can't kick.

H. L. Mencken says he can tell whether a manuscript is any good by feeling it through the envelope. . . . If it doesn't "feel" just right, he doesn't read it.

PREVIEWED

Today

Broadway: "Everybody Sing." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has concocted a lively song and dance festival in this musical comedy endeavor which possesses all the necessary ingredients of a hit picture. There isn't much of a story but there is plenty of humor and a group of well sung songs.

The cast features Allan Jones, Fanny Brice and Judy Garland and Miss Brice does her famous Baby Snooks characterization for the first time before a camera.

Kingston: "College Swing." Another collegiate song and dance comedy appears on the Kingston screen wherein the audience gets a motion picture idea of the way a college might be run. It's a gay, rollicking and completely ridiculous tale that centers around the activities of George Burns and Gracie Allen and these two comedians really go to town with the best parts they have enjoyed in some time.

Others in the big cast include Jackie Coogan, Betty Grable, Edward Everett Horton, Martha Raye, Ben Blue and Bob Hope. Those who like swing tunes and a general air of youthful exuberance will enjoy this production by Paramount.

Orpheum: "Little Miss Roughneck."

neck" and "Roaring Six Guns". A juvenile story and a blazing western melodrama are the two full length films on display at the Orpheum, the first with little Edith Fellows raising plenty of excitement and merriment in the opening attraction and with Kermit Maynard starred in the western vehicle.

Tomorrow

Broadway: "Crime School". The slum sections of America's great cities where boys develop their training to be the vicious criminals of tomorrow is probed with a searching eye by Warner Brothers in this gripping story of a group of young boys who get their criminal training in the gutters and who know no law but the law of gangland. The film also portrays the life that goes on in the nation's reformatories and suggests that these places are but steps up the ladder of criminal development. Much of the play's vitality is due to the acting genius of the famous "Dead End Kids" and Humphrey Bogart is also featured in a large cast of lesser players. Here is a timely problem picture that is both entertaining and valuable from the reformist viewpoint.

Committee Will Hear TVA Heads Next Thursday

Washington, May 20 (AP)—The Tennessee Valley Authority investigation committee announced today it would hear testimony of Harcourt A. Morgan and David E. Lilienthal, T. V. A. directors, at a public meeting next Thursday.

The announcement was made by W. O. Heffernan, secretary of the joint congressional committee, who said Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, ousted chairman of the TVA, had been invited to appear next Wednesday.

"It is presumed that Dr. Arthur E. Morgan will accept the invitation to appear before the committee on Wednesday, May 25, as he had previously indicated a desire to be heard at an early date," Heffernan said.

The committee's secretary said acceptances from the two directors already had been received.

Under a resolution by the investigating committee the two Morgan and Lilienthal will be permitted to make statements, written or oral, before they are examined by the investigators.

The committee also has directed that Dr. Arthur E. Morgan be given access to TVA records in the presence of persons selected by the agency's present directors and in the presence of an employee of the congressional committee.

F.D.R. Asks Study Of U.S. Phosphate

Washington, May 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt recommended today a congressional study of the nation's life-giving phosphate supply with a view to shaping a policy covering both domestic consumption and exports.

In a message stressing that this chemical is necessary to all forms of life—human, animal and plant, Mr. Roosevelt declared it was "high time for the nation to adopt a national policy for the production and conservation of phosphates for the benefit of this and coming generations."

The nation's principal phosphate deposits, he advised Congress, are in the Rocky Mountain states centering around Idaho, and in Florida and Tennessee with small deposits in a few other southern states. So far the principal phosphate production has come from the relatively limited Florida and Tennessee supplies, while the vast deposits of the west remained little developed.

The recommendations for a study by a joint Senate-House committee indicated the possibility that emphasis may be placed in future on development of the western deposits and that there may be undertaken some revision of the nation's phosphate export policies.

Will Celebrate 50th Anniversary Here on May 22 Day Rites, Parade

Rev. Arthur J. Doege, M. A.

Sunday, May 22, the Immanuel Senior Walther League of the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Livingston street, this city, will celebrate its 50th anniversary with a special festival service at 10 o'clock in which the Rev. Arthur J. Doege, M. A., of Concordia College, Institute, Bronxville, New York, will preach the sermon.

The Rev. Mr. Doege came to Concordia as president from Lincoln, Neb., where for 11 years he faithfully served the Redeemer Lutheran Church. While in Lincoln he became a pioneer among Lutheran radio preachers. For a number of years he broadcast a sermon every Sunday. His record of 494 consecutive sermons sent over the air is unique.

He was born, the son of a minister, 37 years ago in Hartford, S. D. In his early days he had the ambition to become a physician and administer medicines to the sick and ailing.

As a youth he moved with his parents to Fort Wayne, Ind. The Rev. Mr. Doege received his temporary training at Concordia in Fort Wayne. He took an active part in sports, playing football, baseball and tennis, but his greatest interest at school beside his studies was music. He still remembers with a thrill the Military Tournament at Fort Wayne, when as a cadet lieutenant he directed a band composed of some 60 trained musicians from the school band and the municipal band.

From Fort Wayne he went to Concordia Seminary in St. Louis to take up studies for the ministry. He also took part in musical affairs, giving organ recitals and directing the choir and glee club. He graduated in 1923 and for two years he taught at the Concordia Seminary, Springfield, Ill.

He continued his studies at Columbia University, and in 1925 received his Master's degree. In the next year he accepted a call from the congregation he served faithfully until he was called to the presidency of Concordia, Bronxville.

The Rev. Mr. Doege came to Bronxville with very definite views on education. His ideas concerning religion in education are clearly defined in this statement: "It is important not to leave out of the educational picture the Christian side of life and teach respect for the Bible and sacred writings."

The Immanuel Senior Walther League was organized 50 years ago and at that time was called the Immanuel Singing Society. Later the name of the organization was changed to the Immanuel Young People's Society and this name continued until a few years ago when it was deemed advisable by the members of the society to change the name to the Immanuel Senior Walther League. During the past 50 years this society has done many things for the congregation and also for the youth of the church and adheres to the motto of the Walther League—"For Church and Home."

—Pro Aris Et Focis.

To further celebrate this event a banquet will be held in the Stuyvesant Hotel on Monday evening at 7 o'clock. All former members of the society and members of the congregation and their friends are invited to attend. In conjunction with this banquet the 45th anniversary of the Walther League will also be celebrated.

Suggest the Ulster Society Purchase Van Leuven House

One of Kingston's prominent architects, Charles S. Keefe, of 258 Lucas avenue, today suggested that the Ulster County Historical Society purchase the Van Leuven house, corner of Wall and Main streets, as its permanent headquarters.

This beautiful old residence, which was built in 1795 by John Sedaa, is one of the most outstanding examples of federal-colonial architecture in this section of the nation, Mr. Keefe said. There are 10 rooms in perfect condition and they present an elegance difficult to match.

The Van Leuven house is vacant and for sale. Its acquisition by the historical society would insure its preservation and would give the association appropriate headquarters.

Fined $50

Frank Principe of Washington avenue, arrested last December on a charge of assault in the third degree, changed a former plea of not guilty to one of guilty when the case came up for a hearing before Judge Cahill in police court this morning. The judge imposed a fine of $50. Principe was charged with assaulting Eugene Kaapp.

Veterans, Clerics To Plan Memorial Day Rites, Parade

At a meeting held at the Legion Memorial Building, 18 West O'Reilly street, veterans of all wars and the Ministerial Association of Kingston formulated plans for a Memorial Day service and parade.

Harry R. Karnaghan, chairman of the Veterans Memorial Day Service Committee, and the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, chairman of the Ministerial Association report that memorial services will be held at the municipal auditorium, Sunday evening, May 29, at 8 o'clock. The guest speaker of the evening will be introduced by Colonel Girard Linsley McIntee, will be the Rev. Malachi O'Leary, assistant rector of St. Mary's Church, of Saugerties. The Hon. Conrad J. Heiseleman will preside. The parade will be held on Monday morning, May 30, at 10 o'clock, and will form on Delaware avenue, with six divisions in line. The committee in charge of arrangements consisting of Harry R. Karnaghan, as chairman; Edward J. Wortman, vice-chairman; James M. Krom, secretary; Roswell Coles, publicity director; and Captain Charles N. Behrens, parade marshal, are arranging an interesting program. The details will be announced shortly.

The following organizations of World War veterans were represented: James M. Krom, Commander Sons of Union Veterans, Tappan Camp No. 1; Roswell Coles, Commander United Spanish War Veterans, Colonial Camp No. 75; Edward J. Wortman, Quartermaster Veterans of Foreign Wars, Joyce-Schirick Post, representing Commander George H. Decker; Captain Charles N. Behrens, Adjutant First Battalion, 156th Field Artillery, New York National Guard; Harry L. Kirchner, Commander Kingston Post No. 150, American Legion; Roger Baer, director of the Kingston Lions Club.

Flatbush Youth Pays $10 Fine on Bicycle Charge

Eugene Wood, 16, of Flatbush, was picked up in Catskill on Thursday afternoon where he was attempting to sell a bicycle he allegedly had stolen in Kingston. He was turned over to the Kingston police, and this morning faced Judge Cahill in police court on a charge of petit larceny.

The youth pleaded guilty to stealing the bicycle of Robert Southard from School No. 6, and he was fined $10.

The bicycle was recovered undamaged. Lieutenant Phinney informed the court that Wood had also stolen a bicycle owned by Thomas Lodge from St. Joseph's School. That bicycle also was recovered by the police.

Ora Edwards, a negroess of 30 East Union street, arrested for public intoxication, was fined $3.

Waitress Takes Life Near Wassaic

Wassaic, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—The body of Miss Dorothy E. Broderick, 23, comely brunette, shot through the heart, was found in a tent behind a roadside stand near here today.

Thomas A. Lavery, assistant Dutchess county district attorney, said a .32 calibre automatic pistol was found beside the body, together with a note reading: "Do not look for an explanation of this, because there is none."

Lavery said the girl apparently had been living in the tent while working as a waitress at the stand. She previously was employed at the Wassaic State School.

Lavery and State Police Lieutenant H. A. Gray endeavored to locate relatives. They said Miss Broderick was believed to be a former resident of the Bronx, New York city.

TB Still Leads

Atlantic City, N. J., May 20 (AP). Despite a vast reduction in tuberculosis deaths generally, the white plague is still the leading cause of death among industrial wage earners, the New Jersey Tuberculosis League was told today.

Dr. Leverett D. Bristol of Montclair, president of the Essex County Tuberculosis League and health director of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, advocated public disability pensions for breadwinners who are unable to remain at work because of tuberculosis.

Fly to Meet "Enemy"

Norfolk, Va., May 20 (AP).—A squadron of seven giant navy patrol planes took off for a 300 mile flight to sea today in an attempt to locate the "enemy" fleet steaming toward the Virginia Capes. The planes are taking part in joint army-navy exercises designed to test the defense of the Hampton Roads area. The "enemy" fleet is represented by 13 warships—the battleships New York and Texas and 11 destroyers.

Andrew Wort of 83 Union street reported to the Sheriff's office about 8 o'clock last night that a Buick sedan had hit his car and gone on without stopping. The accident occurred at the south side of the Rondout creek bridge.

The stranger lost his hub cap, but that is the only evidence in the case as Andrew did not get his license number.

BE TOPS IN POPULAR TAP STEPS: TEACH YOURSELF EASILY AT HOME

Nothing like tap dancing to cure you of wallfloweritis! Or rid you of extra pounds!

In a few home lessons you can teach yourself to tap well enough to entertain at parties with beautiful sparkle. For tap dancing's much simpler than it looks. It uses only a few basic steps—all as easy as the Toe Tap pictured.

To do it, hold right foot back of left foot. Hit floor sharply with toe of right foot. As you click away at this and other basic taps you find yourself gaily fitting them to a favorite rhythm. You're really tap dancing!

Simple directions show you how to combine taps into full-length "show" routines—to put in the fancy touches, the claps and slaps which win applause from the crowd.

Our 40-page booklet, SELF-INSTRUCTION IN TAP DANCING, diagrams and explains basic taps. Practice routines. Full-length buck, waltz, military buck routines. How to fit taps to music. Start now to learn gay steps—to entertain at parties, barn dances, this summer.

Send 15 cents for our booklet SELF-INSTRUCTION IN TAP DANCING, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Smug Critics
New York, May 20 (AP)—The Right Reverend George Craig Stewart, Episcopal bishop of Chicago, returned from Europe today convinced that "Americans are often too smug in their criticism of other nations." "We decry dictators and yet suffer cheap political bosses in practically all of our big cities, and in many of our states," he said.

Will Represent the County TB Group In New York City

The Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health will be represented by Katherine M. Murphy, secretary, at the forthcoming annual conference of State and Local Committees on Tuberculosis and Public Health, New York city, May 24-26.

The conference will offer timely and practical discussions upon the planning and promotion of community health services toward the control of tuberculosis and syphilis by tuberculosis and health associations in cooperation with health and education authorities.

State Health Commissioner Edward S. Godfrey, Jr.; Dr. Robert L. Plunkett, general superintendent of District State Tuberculosis Hospitals; and Homer Folks, secretary of the State Charities Aid Association, will address a luncheon, May 24 on "The Expanding State-Local Program for the Eradication of Tuberculosis."

The three-day program also includes discussion of "Outstanding needs in the campaign against syphilis" and "Tuberculosis case finding among family household contacts, industrial workers, families on relief, adolescents, young adults, young teachers, child applicants for working papers and young expectant mothers."

Fight Attempt To Open Store

zone. Finally Mrs. Bibby brought an action against Van Gaasbeck to restrain him from using the blacksmith shop as a grocery and Judge Harry E. Schirick granted a temporary injunction restraining Van Gaasbeck from proceeding with his plans.

"That has cost Mrs. Bibby money," said Mr. Grogan, "for she was compelled to defend her property."

Should Have Teeth The zoning law should have teeth in it said Mr. Grogan. Otherwise what is the use of a property owner taking steps to protect property, and purchase property in a residential zone only to be kept on the anxious seat not knowing when some one may attempt to open a store, a bicycle shop, a gas station, etc., within the residential zones.

Attorney Grogan said that the zoning ordinance had been adopted to protect property values, but if it was to be continually amended it would have a tendency to emasculate it, and that in the end the zoning law, if continually amended would not carry out the protection for which it had been adopted.

Did Decrease Values James E. Sneed, real estate broker, who brokered the purchase of the Fowler property said that when the council allowed business to enter a residential zone it tended to decrease property values.

Mr. Sneed said that if it had not been for the fact that there was a store adjoining the Fowler house at the time it was sold that Judge Fowler could have obtained several thousand more dollars for the property.

Dr. Baker Objects Theodore Peck, who said he appeared for Dr. Jacob Baker, who had recently purchased the Dr. Sahler Sanatorium, opposed the granting of the Van Gaasbeck petition.

Mrs. I. Jacobson, Mrs. William R. Kraft and Mrs. Mortimer Downer also spoke briefly opposing the granting of the petition.

Mrs. Downer said that she and her husband would not have purchased the property at the corner of Henry and Wall streets if they had not been assured the property was within the residential district.

Spoke in Rebuttal Attorney Elsworth speaking in rebuttal said that under date of April 2 he had received a letter signed by Dr. James A. Mathers, in charge of the Sahler Sanatorium, and signed by a number of others, in which it was stated they had no objection to a store.

Mr. Elsworth contended that no deal could have gone through if the Bibbys had not been able to obtain the store property adjoining the Fowler house. He said that when the store building was purchased no stipulation was obtained from Mr. Van Gaasbeck that he would not conduct a store.

He said that Van Gaasbeck had paid a thousand dollars for the former blacksmith shop. He also desired to call the committee's attention to the fact that Mr. Van Gaasbeck was an upright citizen and had served two years in France during the World War. When he had conducted the store adjoining the Fowler property no objection had been raised by any one.

Depended on Zone Law. Mr. Grogan in reply said that he had not asked Mr. Van Gaasbeck to sign a stipulation for the reason that he had depended upon the zoning ordinance to protect his client's property. As for records it should not be overlooked that during the war Mrs. Bibby had served at the front as a Red Cross nurse and that Dr. Bibby had been a major in the service during the war.

Peck Speaks Again. Mr. Peck, again speaking for Dr. Baker, said that the doctor had no idea when he purchased the sanatorium that one of the patients had circulated a petition.

Sneed Explains. Mr. Sneed said that before the deal had gone through he had spoken to N. Jansen Fowler, who at that time was a member of the zoning board and was assured that no store could be opened in the district, and that Mrs. Bibby had purchased the property with that understanding.

Hearing Closed. No one else desiring to be heard, the hearing was closed by Chairman Connelly, who stated that the committee would later

FOR YOUR ROYAL RECEPTION THANKS

Thanks, KINGSTON, Thanks a Million!

Your critical approval of ROYAL CROWN Cola has been so generous, so overwhelming, that we are still a little breathless. In a very short period ROYAL CROWN Cola has become a part of your traditional Kingston hospitality. Never have we known such a reception for a new product. Almost 100% distribution from the finest fountains to the most modest suburban homes.

Today ROYAL CROWN Cola has arrived in Kingston, and we are proud that your critical appreciation of quality has found it worthy of your choice. True, ROYAL CROWN Cola is, practically speaking, a new drink in Kingston, but back of each tall, generous bottle is a quarter-century of experience in blending and bottling fine cola beverages. We honestly believe that you, like millions of others, will prefer it to any other cola drink, because of its rich goodness, its sheer deliciousness, its downright refreshing qualities. That is why we ask you to try it. But there's another reason, too—a very good one—each bottle of ROYAL CROWN Cola contains two (count them) full glasses for 5c.

DRINK

WHEN YOUNGSTERS CLAMOR FOR A COLA DRINK

Nowadays, when many doctors recommend the healthful, refreshing and invigorating zest of a Cola beverage for even the tiniest children, here is the answer to your Cola problem. When young appetites clamor for the taste of a Cola drink, give them Royal Crown cola. Its natural goodness wins their instant affection. Its fruity, tingling taste comes from pure ingredients, cane sugar and sparkling water. And for your peace of mind, each sterilized bottle bears the Seal of Approval of the Good Housekeeping Bureau.

MAKE YOUR OWN TEST OF ROYAL CROWN Cola QUALITY

We've been making Cola beverages for a quarter century. We think we know a good one when we taste it. We think Royal Crown cola is the best Cola drink that ever bubbled out of a bottle.
